

THE STREETS OF ASBURY

Written by Mary Husowech

The streets fly by with each neighborhood
And with every house there burns a heart
A dying soul
A dying soul to get out of here I know
Dying to get out of here

And I'm just
A ghost inside a light
A ghost that walked down these streets
Somewhere in the middle of the night
The streets of Asbury
The streets of Asbury
Where its palisades of old
Still got hearts burning bold
Hold onto the old neighborhood
Hold onto the old gang
Says a friend of mine
Hold onto its people
Hold onto its crowd
Hold onto its ghost and what we had

Stay and keep its people proud
A good guy may come and go
My friend that stays is an angel of the streets
you know

And I'm a ghost inside a street light
A ghost that walked the streets... somewhere...
Somewhere... in the middle of the night

The streets of Asbury
The streets of Asbury
Where the palisades of old
But still yet...hearts burning bold.

Where hearts are burning bold
Some dying to get out
Some hanging on to be proud
With every neighborhood flying by

Do we get out?
Do we stay?
The State's funding is running out
Neighborhoods fall
Buildings crumble in the sight
Of boardwalk sunshine
And across the tracks ...

Are the streets
Are the streets
Where people sometimes don't come back
They don't come back

Hold onto the old neighborhood
Hold onto its ghost
Of what we had
Stay and keep it proud
My friend stays... Maybe he's an angel

An angel of the streets you know
You know
And I may be
A ghost inside a street light
A ghost that walked down here
Somewhere...
In the middle of the night

The streets of Asbury
The streets of Asbury
Where the palisades are old
Asbury... it still has hearts burning bold
Tonight its streets... its streets burning bold
To the neighborhoods that fly by
The neighborhoods that fly by
The streets of Asbury
Some angels stay
Some angels go
Just stay
Just stay
In the old neighborhood
You know
The streets
The streets
Of Asbury
Just stay ... don't go...Just stay....
